

By The River - May Morning

Sequel To 'The Willow Tree'

For Piano And 2 Violins

Judy Lane

Goodness me! Where am I now?

The sun is just rising and there is a slight mist in the air. I must be by a river.

There are strange boats floating by, propelled by long poles.
All on board are laughing, drinking and singing at the tops of their voices.

I see a tall tower and on the top are small boys dressed in strange white dresses. They are singing wonderful songs.

Now bells are ringing and I hear cheering and music that keeps going all day long until tiredness slowly brings the fun to an end.

The moon is rising and the world sleeps again.

I like my new home.

Goodnight!
