The Robin

With shiny eyes and fiery breast,
The robin is our friend.
He sits upon the garden wall,
His songs seem without end.
Sing little robin, sing all the day.
Help take life's troubles far away.

Sing like the robin, all gloom to destroy,
Pass this good news to each girl and boy.
Sing like the robin, sing for joy,
Spread the good news to each girl and boy.
Singing is good for us in ev'ry way,
Make sure you sing just ev'ry day.

Swooping low across the lawn,
He flies from bush to chair,
And quickly sees off other birds
That may have settled there.
Sing little robin, sing all the day,
You take all life's troubles far far away.

Sing little robin, all gloom to destroy,
Just pass this news to each girl and boy.
Sing like the robin, sing for joy,
Let's spread the good news to each girl and boy.
Singing is good for us in ev'ry way,
Make sure you sing just every day.

Where he goes in summer we're really not to sure,
But come the falling autumn leaves,
He's singing on the wall once more.
Singing singing all the day,
Helping life's troubles fade away.

Sing like the robin, sing for joy,
Spread the good news to each girl and boy.
Thank you Lord for our little friend,
He's sitting on our wall
And singing on our wall right now.
